CONFERENCE REPORTS

AJNM welcomes conference reports from participants who have attended conferences. The aim of conference reports is to allow readers to get a feel for which conferences they might want to try to attend in the future, reviews might have to address issues such as whether the conference is recurrent, whether it is aimed at practitioners or researchers, and where (on the web) information about future conferences can be found. Another aspect might be new trends identified during the conference. A format for such reviews might be useful. These reports include websites where further information could be obtained about the conference concerned, and about the organisation sponsoring the conferences, if relevant. Specific formats for conference reports will be adhered to as from 2014.
